REMEMBRANCE DAY SERVICES WERE MOST IMPRESSIVE

Almost everybody in town attended the Remembrance Day service held in the hall Monday. Rev. J. W. House, Jr., McCormick and Rev. J. N. Wilkinson all took part. The Gleichen orchestra supplied the music for the occasion. The 22nd Battery, veterans, Girl Guides, Brownies, Scouts and Cubs all attended in a body.

The address was given by Rev. J. N. Wilkinson was based on the text, "This day shall be unto you for a memorial." Exodus 12:14. The text which referred to the inauguration of the Jewish feast of the Passover was used by the speaker with special reference to Remembrance Day, and the hope was expressed that the memories of those who made the supreme sacrifice in the World War are worth enough to make us determine that their faith expressed in the following lines may not become mere hollow mockery:

We are the dear; about days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and how we lie
In Flanders' fields.
Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you from falling hands we throw
The torch. Be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep
Though poppies grow in Flanders' fields.

The speaker went on to say: "As we decorate again the graves of the dead how urgent it is that we recognize the solemn obligation which such a staggering sacrifice of life puts upon us who remain behind. We shall be guilty of the basest treason and ingratitude if we fail to live for the ideals for which they died."

In following up the thought of keeping faith with those who died the question was raised as to how we can do this, for it is no longer possible to go out and kill Germans, Austrians and Russians even if such a course would be of any value. In the opinion of the speaker, the real foe is not a nation, nor group of nations, but the institution of war itself and all the selfish and materialistic interests that are bound up in this institution, and the failure that physical force is an equal to solve the world's problems. Therefore the challenge thrown to us by our fallen comrades is to displace the same courage, self-denial and sacrifice in fighting the agencies that cause war that our soldiers displayed in fighting Germans and Austrians, remembering that as a Christian nation we are required to save life rather than destroy it and to obey the Master's command, "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, and pray for them that despitefully use you."

Tribute was paid to any man who died or was willing to die on the battlefield or anywhere else, sincerely believing that his death would atone for some selfish evil that was the cause of war itself. But many veterans as well as others are realizing today that their sacrifice has not ended the war plague for it is more rampant than in 1914, and while it cost some evils for a time most of them are back in worse form than ever and others in their train so our ultimate problem is to thoroughly investigate the underlying causes of war and find a way of removing them.

Upon completion of the services all left the hall and gathered around the monument where wreaths were deposited and the two minutes' silence observed.

A story is told of two railway officials who were puzzled by the fact that a local farmer never took a railway ticket when he went to the neighboring city but always handed the cash to one of them. These men were brothers and wondered what the farmer's idea could be. At last they approached the farmer to learn why he persisted in handing money to them instead of buying a ticket in the orthodox way. The reply was: "Years ago I lost a cow on the railway and never got compensation, so I vowed the company would never get another cent from me—and I know they never shall while you're here."

"Prohibition laws do not induce temperance," says a distinguished Canadian. Indeed, they result in the most staggering excesses.

DEATH CLAIMS JOHN GLAMBECK OF MILO DISTRICT

The announcement of the death of John Glambeck of Milo in Calgary, Monday came as a surprise to his friends, especially those who were not aware of his illness. The old timers of Gleichen will remember him well, as for many years before the railway was built through his district he did most of his business in Gleichen.

Before Mr. Glambeck went to Milo, one thirty years ago, from Chicago, he was connected with the newspaper business. Therefore it was natural for him to continue writing to the newspapers up until his death. For many years he was the Milo correspondent to The Call. He wrote often and came on the trials and tribulations of the grain harvesters from his district to Cluny or Gleichen. Always he was doing what he could to get afloat through a bad year and occasionally he did what was probably the wisest thing in that part of the country.

Shortly after his arrival in Milo he hunted various kinds of fruit to his homestead and soon demonstrated that they would grow and bear in abundance. Every year he hunted trees of every description until an area planted covered several acres. As the years passed he became an authority on trees and knew what trees would thrive in this country. If Mr. Glambeck could have of his way every farm in Alberta could have had a grove.

He was one of the men who helped organize the U.F.A. It was he who originated the U.F.A. picnics that are held for years where the ferry, as located south of Cluny, later a new bridge, and now held at Lake McGregor. Mr. Glambeck was 73 years of age and was preceded by his life several years ago. He is survived by several children.

MRS. J. N. GOSSELIN

Word has been received this week of the death of Mrs. J. N. Gosselin, nee Gosselin, at the age of 96, in Cluny, Ontario, at the age of 96. Mrs. Gosselin operated a butcher shop in Gleichen for sometime some years ago. Many people here will remember her.

GLEICHEN UNITED CHURCH

Sunday, Nov. 17, 1935.
Rev. J. N. Wilkinson, minister.
Mrs. H. Birch, choir leader.
Miss Jean Farquharson, pianist.
11 a.m. Church school.
7:30 p.m. public worship. Subject: "How am I to know what to believe?"

In these days when authority in almost all lines is being questioned, and with all sorts of contradictory theories on government, economics, morals, religion, etc., how is anyone to know who is right and who is wrong? And is there any ultimate authority upon which we can depend?

A frank discussion of these questions will take place on Sunday night, and a cordial invitation is extended to all who have problems along these lines.

Music: Anthem: "Be Joyful in the Lord." (Wilson).

DOUBLE WEDDING TAKES PLACE AT CLUNY MISSION

GOUDINE-SIMONIN
BEAUDIN-SIMONIN

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was solemnized at the Cluny Mission Church, Wednesday, November 6, at 10 a.m., when Marie Anne and Anna, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Simonin of Cluny, were united in marriage to Mr. Jules Gaudine and Mr. Gerard Beaudin of Cluny. Father Rioux officiated at the ceremony.

The brides were beautifully gowned in shimmering white tulle dresses in bouffant style. The veils of silk net were of hem length and were becomingly caught at the forehead with a wreath of orange blossoms. They both carried a spray of bridal roses. Two charming little flower girls, daintily attired in pink attended them. They were Miss Madeline Simonin, a niece, and Miss Blanche Simonin, a sister of the brides.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to some fifty guests at the home of the brides. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Simonin gave a dance for their daughters in Cluny hall. The many friends of the newlyweds enjoyed the music of the corner orchestra and a beautiful feast served by Mrs. Luke Simonin and Mrs. J. B. Beaudin.

They were the recipients of many useful and lovely gifts both at a dinner three weeks previous and on their wedding day.

The happy couples left after the dance to spend a short honeymoon in Calgary. The brides travelled in dark black coats trimmed grey fur and becoming wine felt hats. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Beaudin will reside in Chancellors district and Mr. and Mrs. Gaudine in Cluny district. We all join in wishing them success and happiness.

PEACOCK-ANGLIN

A quiet wedding took place on Tuesday evening, November 5th in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives, when Mr. Ardill Peacock and Miss Marguerite Mae Anglin were united in marriage. Rev. J. N. Wilkinson of the United Church performed the ceremony.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY CONVENTIONS OF THE UNITED CHURCH

During the past four weeks conventions in connection with the tenth anniversary of the United Church of Canada have been in progress in the eastern provinces and are now to be held in the western provinces. These gatherings are part of the program. They are planned with the object of bringing home to the members and adherents of the churches a realization of what has been accomplished in the ten years which have passed since the United Church was formed and to afford an opportunity for discussion on the direction to be taken in the next decade.

"Know your church" is one of the keynotes of the conventions, and the work now being carried on in the various departments of the United Church and its obligations will be dealt with by some of the noted speakers of the denomination who are coming from Eastern Canada.

One of the western conventions will be held in Calgary, Tuesday and Wednesday, November 26 and 27, and a committee has been appointed to make the necessary arrangements. Announcements will be made later concerning the program and the names of the speakers.

It's a great life getting out a newspaper we have just been informed. He states all that is necessary to do every day of the year is get of local items like this: Mrs. H. north of town let a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the kitchen. Harry K. climbed on the roof of his shack last Monday to fix some broken shingles and fell on his back porch. While H. G. was escorting home his best girl from church Sunday, a police dog attacked them and bit Mr. G. on the 4th Avenue. While harnessing a donkey at his farm near Arrowwood, Friday Mr. G. H. was kicked just to the north of his barn.

It's an easy job getting out a newspaper alright.

SKATING RINK WILL SOON OPEN FOR THE SEASON

Al Wilson has been appointed caretaker of the rink for this winter. Monday he started making ice and by Tuesday night he had a coating of ice over the entire arena. A lot of snow in the rink has been used to advantage in ice making. First a drag was pulled over the snow spreading it out and packing it down and then a little water on top of that soon made a crust of ice. If the cold weather holds out for a few days Al will break all records in ice making.

The gunners dressing room has been enlarged by some four or five feet and lockers built to accommodate the hockey equipment. Enlarging this room will give Manager McConnell a chance to give the players a little pep talk between periods.

Officials of the Athletic Club now are:

President, Joe Guttman.
Secretary-Treasurer, Sam Dufosse.
Rink Manager, Jack Lester.
Assistant Rink Manager, Bill Service.
Caretaker, Al Wilson.

CAR CRASHES INTO SNOW PLOUGH

At an early hour Thursday morning a Strathmore car containing Jack Bennett and Albert Wagstaffe crashed into a snowplow some 10 miles northwest of town. Both men were terribly injured. Wagstaffe has since died and Bennett is still in a critical condition. Both are known in Gleichen since they have been working for the C.P.R. here.

The snowplow was east bound when it became stuck in the snow. One of the men went back to flag down the oncoming car but his signals were ignored and the car crashed the snowplow at a very high rate of speed. The plow is said to weigh 15 tons, and the force of the blow drove it some eight feet further into the snow bank, damaging its propeller shaft and other parts of the rear, while the car

"SASKAL" TEA

To Settle An Issue

There are few people in Western Canada, and in the east as well for that matter, who will not follow with lively interest the proceedings before the Royal Commission appointed by the Saskatchewan Government to inquire into all the circumstances surrounding the "On to Ottawa" trek of relief camp strikers, which started out from Vancouver this summer and culminated in the Dominion Day rioting in Regina, in which a city police detective lost his life and scores were injured.

The inquiry, which is to be held in Regina may be regarded as an event of major importance to the whole country, in view of the fact that charges have been made public that the purpose and intent of the movement was to upset the constituted government of Canada and to impose on the country a government by unlawful means.

This has been denied by the strikers' leaders, who have insistently declared that their purpose was peaceful and inspired only with the desire to draw their grievances to the attention of the Federal government and the people in the hope that by this means these grievances would be remedied. Which is correct, the charge or the denial, the people at large have no means of knowing at the present time, but it is sincerely to be hoped that sufficient evidence will be brought before the Commission to settle the question definitely one way or the other.

The charge, of course, is a serious one, since, if true, it involves a serious threat to the democratic form of government which has been bequeathed to the people of Canada and has been carefully fostered and cherished by them since Confederation. The whole trend of the history of the country since that date has been to bulwark and strengthen that form of government which decrees that at periodic intervals the people of the country shall decide by their ballots at the polls what administrative policies they desire.

On the other hand, if there is no truth in the charge, the public is entitled to know it. During their advance through the provinces of British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan as far as Regina, the young men making their way towards Ottawa gained a measure of sympathy and support from a section of the public.

Those who assisted the men on their trip to the capital in the belief that it was a peaceful delegation to supplicate the government to terminate certain grievances, whether those grievances were real or fancied, will want to know whether their confidence was misplaced or not.

Those young men who joined the movement in a spirit of youthful adventure as the strikers progressed through the western provinces, as is alleged many of them did on the assumption that it was a peaceful and law-abiding pilgrimage, will also want to know whether they were bound on an innocent quest or were unwitting and pliable tools in the hands of a menacing leadership, as has also been alleged.

These are matters which should be cleared up definitely and finally for the sake of the peace of mind of the public generally and for the information of participants in the march and of those who sympathized with them and aided them.

There is only one way, however, for these questions to be definitely determined and that is by all those who have specific information on the movement and its motives to come forward and offer their testimony without fear or favor. Such information, no matter what it may be, provided it is reliable, will, it is safe to say, be welcomed by the Commission and the public.

It must be borne in mind that the Commission is purely a fact-finding body. It is not charged with the duty of drawing conclusions from the evidence adduced, or of making recommendations as a result of the information it receives.

The Commission's duties are confined to bringing out whatever facts they and their counsel may be able to secure and, while, no doubt, every effort will be made to gain as much information as possible, the value of the Commission's work to the public will be limited to the extent that such information is made available.

If those who have important information on the subject matter of the inquiry, neglect to bring it to the Commission's attention, to that extent the investigation will necessarily fail to fulfill its full purpose and to that degree the inquiry will be disappointing.

No matter how economically handled a Royal Commission inquiry is bound to involve considerable expenditure and it is to be hoped that those who have information of value will submit it and help the public to secure a good return for the expense entailed.

Prominent Writer Dies

Frank Yeigh Was Authority On Canadian Affairs

Widely known as a lecturer, writer and authority on Canadian affairs, Frank Yeigh, 75, died in Toronto after a brief illness.

He was born in Burford, Ont., and was educated at the public school there. After a period of secretarial and publishing training in Chicago he came here in the late 70's and became secretary to Hon. A. S. Hardy, first provincial secretary and later Ontario premier.

Later he became editor of the weekly newspaper, Canadian Advance. He married Kate Westlake, author of "A Specimen Spinner," in 1892. She died in 1905.

In 1908 he married Annie Louise Laird, daughter of Rev. Robert Laird, of Kingston. He travelled through the British Isles and Europe in succeeding years and in 1920 became Canadian representative of the Save the Children Fund, an international organization sponsored by the League of Nations aimed at relieving distress among women and children.

Extensive Travelling

Journalist Covers 1,250,000 Miles, Always Going Eastward

A man has come to Durban, Natal, who is 22 days younger than any man of his age in the world. He is Mr. M. Franklin Kline. Eleven years ago he set his face to the sun and he has travelled towards it ever since, completely leaving out the Northern and then the Southern Hemisphere every year. He has thus been round the world 22 times in 11 years, and, as he has always travelled east, 22 days have been clipped off his life. "I've travelled 1,250,000 miles in my life, always east," he said, "and have never grown tired of it. There are too many interesting things to see. Anyway, I guess I'm wound up now and can't stop. I'm the editor and compiler of the official guide for shipping and travellers to the principal parts of the world, which is published by the Osaka Shosen Kaisha Company, Japan. I visit all the big ports of the world every year, meet the heads of business firms and interview them. I spend all my time in ships, writing and compiling my guidebook, which is published every year. I was born in Tennessee. I came to South Africa in 1904 and found a job in the mines. When the Zulu rebellion broke out in 1905, I joined up with the Transvaal volunteers. It used to be real fighting in those days." Mr. Kline became a journalist after the rebellion, and when in Japan he conceived the idea of issuing a shipping guide-book as a means of travelling round the world. This was so successful that he has continued travelling ever since.

Requests For Dionne Bowls

Premiums Have Been Given To People All Across Canada

That the Dionne quintuplets are very dear to the hearts of the people of Canada is amply demonstrated in the tremendous demands for the "Quinta" souvenir bowls being given away as premiums in connection with Quaker Oats. Although the premium offer was first made only a comparatively short time ago, already literally thousands upon thousands of requests for the bowls have been received from families all over the Dominion. Requests for premiums, in the form of the "Quinta" bowls, come from people in every walk of life, high and low, and from both men and women, as well as children.

The premium offer of chromium bowls bearing a reproduction of the heads of the five famous babies in intaglio on the bottom, and their names carved around the rim, is being made to mark the fact that Quaker Oats was chosen by the best food experts in the country as the breakfast cereal for the children. The Dionne Quintuplets have been eating Quaker Oats regularly since their very earliest months.

Quaker Oats was chosen because of its remarkable richness in Vitamin B. Food experts of leading institutions are constantly printing articles stressing the importance of this vitamin. They also recommend oatmeal because of its abundance of body-building minerals, muscle-building protein, and energy-making carbohydrates. So the "Quinta" get bowls of Quaker Oats.

Flying Torpedo Boats

War Instrument Capable Of Sinking Biggest Battleship Afloat

Just as Germany startled the naval world in 1930 with "vest-pocket" cruisers, she has again, after five years of tireless experiments, sprung a new surprise in vest-pocket torpedo boats—variously called death boats or flying torpedo boats because of their tremendous speed and flexibility. Carrying two torpedo tubes and capable of sinking the biggest battleship afloat, these "mosquito boats" of 200 tons size reach a speed of 65 miles an hour. For defence against the giants of other navies, they rely on this terrific speed, not armament, as they dart forward under cover of smoke screens, the technique demonstrated at the Baltic naval manoeuvres.

Early erroneous reports claimed that the vest-pocket torpedo boats were manned by a crew of only five men, a "suicide crew" whose object it was to be simply to drive their little craft loaded with explosive straight into enemy battleships, taking their chance to survive by leaping overboard at the last minute. The United Press ascertained that the crews actually number 22, eight on deck, eight in the engine rooms and six officers.

Illuminated Highways

Cars Without Lights—Traffic Signals Received By Radio

Illuminated roads, on which motor car lights would be unnecessary, were envisaged by A. T. V. Robinson, deputy secretary of the ministry of transport, at a combined session of the engineering and psychology sections of the British Association, which mainly dealt with road traffic problems.

"It may be that within the next decade, on all the more intensely trafficked roads, the approaching driver will see an oncoming vehicle, not as a couple of spots of dazzling light with a black background, but as a dark silhouette against an adequately illuminated background," he said.

The advances of recent years were still all dependent for their efficacy upon their visual perception by the driver of a road vehicle and his readiness to respond.

"The road driver of the future may hear traffic signals on his car radio set," said Mr. Robinson.

Grasshopper Menace

Infestation For 1936 Believed To Be Higher In Manitoba

Indications of grasshopper infestation for 1936 are much lighter than for many years, Dr. R. D. Bird of the Dominion entomological laboratory, Brandon, Man., told the Manitoba grasshopper control committee in Winnipeg.

The areas of heaviest infestation, according to indications of egg deposits in the soil, are in patches south and southeast of Winnipeg, said Dr. Bird, who has just completed a survey of egg beds. Lighter infestation is indicated over a wide section of the southwestern part of Manitoba.

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about "ASPIRIN."

He will tell you that before the discovery of "Aspirin" most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate "Aspirin" among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest, remember this:

"Aspirin" Tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

Rush Of Gold To States

Not Sufficient Silver To Balance "None" Stocks

Europe's crisis has had a queer, nightmarish effect on the United States government silver-buying drive.

Like men on a fast-moving treadmill, the treasury's silver purchasers now have to run if they want to stay where they are.

A rush of war-scared gold from Europe to the United States—something unforeseen when the silver policy was laid down by Congress—is responsible.

The law set forth a program under which the treasury was to buy silver until there was one dollar of silver for every three of gold in the monetary stocks (or until the price of silver rose to $1.29 an ounce).

So the treasury started buying hundreds of millions of dollars worth of silver only to find the gold stock, instead of remaining fairly stationary as silver could catch up with its appointed position, increased enormously as a nervous Europe shipped its gold to America.

At the time the Silver Purchase Act was passed, the government had about $7,800,000,000 in gold and $915,000,000 in silver or 12 per cent. as much silver as gold.

Since then, according to the treasury's daily statement, the gold stocks have increased to $9,542,000,000 and silver to about $1,670,000,000. The percentage of silver to gold has risen from 12 per cent. to 17.5 per cent. but to reach the law's objective of 33 1/2 per cent., the treasury must still purchase almost as much as in the beginning.

If the gold stock had remained where it was when the silver purchase law was enacted, the treasury would have had to acquire $1,950,000,000 of silver to reach the law's objective. Now, even with the large purchases that have been made, the government is still $1,550,000,000 short of the goal.

Treasure Ship Stranded

Storm Smashes Vessel To Pieces At Start Of Hunt

Ill fortune has apparently foiled the plans of a group of adventure-loving British Columbians for an expedition to famous Cocos Island in search of the $12,000,000 treasure reputedly buried there.

The 54-foot auxiliary ketch Windward, outfit by her owner, Emline "Bim" Nichol, for the expedition, broke up on the rocks east of Kitilaano beach after she was stranded there when her compass went wrong, her auxiliary engine failed and her main mast crashed when the crew attempted to sail the vessel clear.

Nichol was making a trial cruise with the Windward preparatory to sailing southward. On board with the owner were Mrs. Nichol, Al Munro and Walter Creasey, former Winnipeg athlete.

The ship had barely left the harbor when the main mast crashed to the deck.

Before the ship could be anchored, the rising storm had cast it ashore on the jagged rocks.

Nichols and Creasey rowed ashore in the skiff, leaving Munro in charge on board.

The Windward took a severe pounding for several hours and Munro eventually abandoned the ship, swimming ashore.

Nichol was interested in Cocos Island by "Bud" Bellamy, soldier of fortune who brought a story of having found treasure coins buried in the sands of the small island off the coast of Central America.

Anticipating Death

Right Of Person To Take His Own Life In Certain Circumstances

The right of a person to take his own life, in certain circumstances, would be legalized under a bill prepared by Lord Moyynhan, a past president of the Royal College of Surgeons. It was reported in London. Suicide is now a "crime" in English law. Certain members of the clergy are said to regard Lord Moyynhan's project favorably.

Under Lord Moyynhan's plans, a person afflicted with a painful and incurable disease could request his attending physician for the privilege of "anticipating death" by euthanasia, or painless killing, to be performed under the direction of the physician.

Such a request would have to be accompanied by a sworn statement to the effect that the doomed person's affairs were in order.

According to the latest estimates there were 52,700,000 people in North America in 1934. Canada had 3,400,000; the United States 52,200,000, and Newfoundland 100,000. In 1933, the number of people in the world was estimated at 688,300,400. 2123

Modern Japanese Girl

Mixture Of East And West Is Quite Noticeable

The "new" woman of Japan differs from the "new" woman of other countries in that, while learning to dress, dance, work and play after Western methods, she is still expected to be cultured after the manner of the East and to maintain that culture in the home.

The old way included knowledge of the tea ceremony, playing of the Koto and Samisen, and the arrangement of flowers in the conventional Japanese fashion, these accomplishments being a part of a girl's education.

It is a curious mixture of East and West—the old traditions of dress and dances in one theatre, a modern musical revue with Western dancing by the "Japanese Girls' Opera Company" in another. Cinemas have done much to bring Western fashions and ideas to Japan. Artists chalk or pencil their sketches for European fashion pictures, while the lovely old brush-work pictures still continue to be painted.

A form of entertainment still popular is the drawing of rapid impressions of things in which the Japanese delight—flowers, birds, landscapes, cherry gardens and blossoming woods. The most refined entertainment a Japanese can give the European visitor is to invite him to see noted calligraphic impressions of things and painting to order. The artist on her knees, with her nose to the floor, will give a perfect brush-work picture, done in lightning strokes on silk or paper, of blossoming trees, birds, or a moon lit landscape.

Think of such an artist. Then imagine her learning to fly. Imagine her employed in filling engines at a petrol station, or as a guide, a hospital nurse, or factory inspector. Imagine her wearing dungarees or helmet and flying suit, at work, and donning the long-sleeved kimono, the obi and the tabi, or one-toed socks, which form the charming native costume, as soon as she gets home.

The new Japanese woman has to know how to cook foreign food, as well as rice and Japanese sugar cakes. She learns to play tennis and even hockey, as well as the age-old shuttlecock game of Japan. But she will probably never become entirely Europeanized. The Emperor, Empress and all the Royal family still remain faithful to native customs and fashions, and encourage the people to dress, feed and play as folk did in days gone by before Japan became modernized.

Fast Mail Service

Air Mail Service From London To Paris In Record Time

The fastest air-mail service is to be instituted before the end of the month from London to Paris. An air-mail letter posted in London at 1 a.m. is to be delivered in Paris six hours later, considerably shortening the present schedule.

Throughout the British Isles, by means of post office co-operation and readjustments of posting hours, faster air-mail service will be effected. English mail to Prague will require only seven hours, and to Vienna only an hour more. France will operate an hour line to South America, with deliveries from London in seven days.—New York Times.

Now is the Time For This Help In Preventing Colds

Formula Especially Designed to Aid Nature's Defenses Against These Unpleasant, Where Most Colds Start

PART OF COLDS-CONTROL PLAN

Don't wait for a cold to develop—get you down. After any unusual exposure, head that first warning nasal irritation or sneeze—apply a few drops of Vicks Vapo-rubol up each nostril. Used in time, Vapo-rubol helps to avoid many colds.

Vapo-rubol is especially designed to aid and gently stimulate the functions provided by Nature—the nose—to prevent colds and to throw off head colds in the early stages. Where irritation has led to a clogged-up nose (a stuffy head cold or nasal catarrh) Vapo-rubol spreads through the nasal passages—relaxes swollen membranes—clears clogging mucus—brings comforting relief.

For Fever and Shorter Colds. Note for your family: Vicks has developed, especially for home use, a practical Plan for Better Control of Colds. This commonsense guide to fever and shorter colds has been clinically tested by practicing physicians and further proved in everyday home use by millions. Full details of Vicks Plan come in each Vapo-rubol package.

New Era in Plane Travel

Stratosphere Ships To Travel Above Clouds At Terrific Speeds

Designers of Bristol's next air marvel, the stratosphere aeroplane, hope that it will reach a height of at least 50,000 feet, and travel at speeds equal almost to the 340 miles an hour achieved in the last Schneider Trophy race.

These features are the official aims of the air ministry for the special aircraft being built by the Bristol Aeroplane Company at Bristol.

Details of the machine's design are being kept secret, but the expected performances were made known recently.

This craft may be the forerunner of a new era in long-distance travel. Although balloon ascents have been made to the stratosphere, no aeroplane has carried out any satisfactory tests there. But it is believed that once a machine and engine can be built to reach the necessary height—eight or nine miles up—remarkable speeds will be achieved.

Storms are unknown in the stratosphere and balloonists who have been there report that they never sighted a cloud.

Not only must the engine be super-charged, but the hermetically sealed pilot's cabin must be kept at sufficiently high air pressure to enable a man to live in the rarefied atmosphere.

The Tallest Soldier

The tallest soldier in the French army is causing the French war ministry trouble. Robert Thierry, aged 20, is six feet six inches tall and joined the 10th Colonial Artillery Regiment. When he arrived, a special uniform had to be made for him. He is complaining now that his bed is not long enough to sleep in comfortably. A special one will have to be made.

Accidental Discovery

Explosive Discovered Valuable Because Of Cheap Chemical Ingredients

Discovery of a new explosive of "high shattering power" in the remnants of a laboratory experiment which "went wrong" was announced by Professor A. T. Bowden, head of the College of the Pacific Chemistry Department at Stockton, Calif.

The explosive, Professor Bowden said, might prove of considerable commercial value because of its cheap chemical ingredients. Last year, he said, a minor classroom explosion resulted from an experiment which had been performed successfully hundreds of times before. Seeking conditions causing the blast, Professor Bowden and a group of students made the discovery.

British Eggs By Air Mail

Eggs Delivered From England Were Hatched In Australia

An experiment in sending British eggs by air mail to Australia, to be hatched by Australian hens, has proved a great success, as two sturdy Rhode Island chicks hitherto unknown in Australia prove. Mr. P. P. Finney, assistant secretary of the Poultry Club of New South Wales, received two settings of Rhode Island Red eggs by air mail. They were despatched fifteen days earlier by Lord Greenway from his farm at Stanbridge, Epsom, Romney (Hampshire). The two chicks hatched out 23 days after receipt.

Autograph Collector

A Belgrade man who has been wandering about the world for the past twenty-five years collecting autographs, now has about 20,000 signatures. He is Mirsad Raitsevitch, and he has visited Europe, Siberia, China, Japan, India, Persia, Palestine, North and South America, Australia and New Zealand. The hardest signature to get, he found, was that of Mahatma Gandhi; the easiest that of President Roosevelt.

Town & District

Principal J. Gorell and H. B. Myers attended the high school teachers convention in Calgary last week.

Born on Nov. 7 to Mr. and Mrs. W. Robinson, a boy.

Another snowstorm blew up Saturday making work for town snow-shovelers. They spent Tuesday heaving snow off the sidewalks.

Mrs. W. Thompson has been quite ill recently but is now rapidly recovering.

Next Friday evening the C. W. L. dance and Tombola will take place at the Meaderebeck hall. No doubt there will be a large crowd in attendance.

For the next few weeks some wonderful pictures will be shown here on Fridays and Saturdays.

The members of the Gleichen Branch of the Legion wish to thank all those who helped to make Poppy Day, Armistice Service and dance the success they were.

A fair sized crowd attended the annual Armistice dance Monday night. Those who attended state the music was excellent. Owing to the snow the Legion members who live in the Queenstown district were unable to attend.

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mrs. J. A. McArthur when 28 people sat down to play whist. First prizes went to Mrs. H. Day and Lee Rouchie. Consolation prizes being won by Mr. and Mrs. E. Eltheridge. A delightful lunch was served near mid night.

Although it was a cold night an enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eltheridge. No such a large crowd turned out as would have had the weather been a little warmer. Two tables were kept busy at whist till near midnight. Miss G. White and Roy McLeay won first prizes and Mrs. Day and Mr. Ligon consolation prizes. After card lunch was served.

The U.F.W.A. meeting was held at the home of Mrs. LeRoy Kosford, November 7th, when some 10 members and visitors were present. Mrs. Eltheridge was responsible for a very interesting contest which was won by Mrs. McArthur. All members were pleased to learn that Mrs. W. H. McKeever is rapidly recovering from her recent illness. All plans were completed to hold the bazaar and tea on the 9th, but the weather turned so stormy the ladies postponed the event until a later date. It was arranged to raffle at the bazaar a wool filled pink rayon baby quilt. Mrs. Day and Mrs. McLeay will be responsible for the selling of tickets at 10c. The members of the U.F.A. joined the ladies when lunch was served.

Because you are able to point out real faults and shortcomings in the life of your friend or neighbor, that is no proof that you are profitable or helpfully engaged when you are doing so. It may be for instance, that he knows as much about them as you do and is even more concerned for their elimination or improvement than you can possibly be. For instance, we have found that the man who spend a great deal of his time criticizing the morals or manners of others, is almost sure to neglect his own to some extent. At best that is the only explanation we have been able to find for the well known fact that most strenuous and persistent fault finders usually have as many and as serious faults as ordinary people with a few added. We have about concluded that to find fault with other people helpfully, and without neglecting ourselves or getting into the habit of a fault-finder, is one of the hardest things for any man to do.

A spoonful of honey dissolved in a glass of warm milk is used as a creator of energy by Finnish athletes before undertaking strenuous exertion. During long distance Marathon races they take a very small portion of honey, a little on the tongue only, as a reviver. Billy, how about giving the Gleaners a treat of this just before they go into action and between periods? Their scoring ability might be doubled.

LINCOLN AND STANTON

Lincoln's reliance upon Stanton, his great secretary of war, is well known. They did not always agree, however, and Stanton seems to have felt entirely free to oppose his chief upon occasion.

Some official correspondence dug up by a writer is remarkable for its illustration of this point, as well as being an indication that few words were wasted by these giants in making their respective views known. It seems that Lincoln wanted a certain man appointed an army chaplain. Stanton, objected, with apparent success, as the correspondence quoted indicates:

"Dear Stanton: Appoint this man chaplain in the army. A. Lincoln."
"Dear Mr. Lincoln: He is not a preacher. E. M. Stanton."
"Dear Stanton: He is now. A. Lincoln."
"Dear Mr. Lincoln: But there is no vacancy. H. M. Stanton."
"Dear Stanton: Appoint him. E. M. Stanton."

Kings of Living

A grand and high-stepping monarch was old Louis XIV—they still talk about him back in his old home town. Nothing was too good for Louis—in fact, the best wasn't quite good enough.

Yet his magnificent palace had neither gas nor electricity and there wasn't a tiled shower-bath in the place.

Today the average Canadian citizen enjoys conveniences and comforts exceeding Louis XIV's most extravagant dreams. And many things which we regard as absolute necessities would have seemed the most elegant luxuries to Louis.

Advertising has made possible this widespread distribution of the good things of life. Advertising has made possible large-scale production and large-scale selling, resulting in prices that take luxuries out of the "for-kings-only" class.

It is well worth your while to read the advertisements. They are largely responsible for the high standard of living enjoyed in this country today. And they are raising it daily, making us kings of comfort—kings for Louis to envy.
